
2020 FACULTY GRANTS COMPETITION
REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS
CONFRONTING AND COMBATING RACISM

DEADLINE FOR RECEIPT OF PROPOSAL: AUGUST 21, 2020

Purpose

The Center for Social Solutions, in partnership with Poverty Solutions at the University of Michigan (U-M), announces a grant funding opportunity for faculty at University of Michigan Ann Arbor, Dearborn and Flint campuses to pursue action-based research aimed at ending systemic and institutional racism in forms including systemic oppression, organizational exclusion, institutional discrimination, neglectful policy, and violence against the minds, bodies and cultures of people of color. We anticipate making five (5) to seven (7) awards ranging from $10,000 up to $50,000. A faculty member must serve as a Principal Investigator. Partnerships with faculty across multiple campuses are strongly encouraged, as are projects with community partners.

Funding for this RFP has been provided by Poverty Solutions, the Center for Social Solutions, the College of Literature, Science, and the Arts, Michigan Engineering, the Ford School of Public Policy, the Law School, the National Center for Institutional Diversity, the Provost's office, and the School of Social Work. This request for proposals is part of a larger, university-wide commitment to fund scholarship, teaching, and service initiatives related to racial equity. Announcements about other funding opportunities will be made at a later date.

Background

The Center for Social Solutions (CSS) promotes academic research and social policy that serves the common good in four areas: the interplay between diversity and democracy, the connection of the history of slavery to our present, fair access to water, and the future of work. By connecting rigorous scholarship from the University of Michigan and other universities to the world, CSS offers concrete, tangible solutions to real problems, promotes the common good, and strengthens our national community. Poverty Solutions is an interdisciplinary initiative at the University of Michigan that seeks to find new ways to prevent and alleviate poverty in Michigan, the nation and the world.

This request for proposals seeks to support research projects that would bring new knowledge on important topics related to confronting racism at the institutional level: at the university, in policing, criminal justice, and beyond. We are particularly interested in supporting projects whose results could be implemented at an institutional or systems level or would significantly inform policy change.

We seek to proactively and positively address present day patterns of discrimination and encourage a diverse pool of applicants from faculty at all stages of their career and individual partners from diverse racial, ethnic and socioeconomic backgrounds. Community-academic partnerships are encouraged and may include local, county, or state governments, police departments, court systems, and/or high-impact nonprofits or community-based organizations. Examples of potential projects include (but are not limited to):

- analysis of new or existing data that inform or examine the effects of anti-racist policy initiatives
- a historical analysis of the roots in racism of current policies or institutions with an eye toward addressing these roots in current policy and practice
- evaluations of anti-racist policies, programs or training initiatives

Terms of Funding and Eligibility Criteria

The following terms apply:

1. Applicants for this grant must hold an active U-M faculty appointment on an Ann Arbor, Dearborn or Flint campus. Preference will be given to junior faculty.
2. Grants will begin October 1, 2020. Grants will end September 20, 2021. A midway progress report and presentation is due no later than May 15, 2021. A final report is due no later than October 31, 2021.
3. Funding may be used for faculty time, research assistance, research related expenses, community engagement, and dissemination.
4. Project teams are strongly encouraged to publish and disseminate results. Published products may include policy briefs, fact sheets, media stories, videos, working papers, public presentations, grant proposals, syllabi or peer-reviewed articles.

Selection Criteria

Senior scholars affiliated with the Center for Social Solutions and Poverty Solutions will evaluate applications. Proposals are evaluated against several factors, including:

- the degree to which the project builds knowledge that informs the understanding of interventions, programs, or policies that seek to confront or combat racism;
- the quality of the research design, including appropriate research methodologies;
- the feasibility of the proposed study to be completed during the funding period; and
- preference will be given for projects with interdisciplinary or multi-campus collaborations, to projects that engage a community partner, such as a non-profit organization or a public agency, and to projects that include U-M students.

Application Instructions

Applicants should submit their proposal via email to povertysolutions@umich.edu. Proposals must be received by 11:59 PM Eastern Standard Time on August 21, 2020. The proposal should be submitted as a single PDF file that includes the following elements in the order listed below:
